PYC E-Newsletter | 2nd Quarter: April-June 2023

A Message From

THE CHAIRPERSON

In a world where sustainable energy solutions are becoming increasingly vital, our E-Newsletter takes the stage to reveal the path to a promising better future. PYC E-Newsletter serves as a platform to explore the latest breakthroughs, discuss emerging trends, and showcase the talent driving the energy transition.

Within these pages, you will follow into the captivating world of energy research, where our own opinions are written on various energy issues. Read our “Academic Corner” to find out and “Events in Energy Sector” to get more familiar with what PYC did in our previous events. From research and events, we hope immediate solutions could take into action to problems that happened in Indonesia and the world's energy transition.

PYC is also active in its social initiatives. Find our contributions through “Social Initiatives” section. We commit to bring an impact that could drive people, especially our readers, to also do great things for a better society.

As we embark on this journey, we invite you to be a part of the discussion. Your thoughts and ideas are essential in encouraging meaningful discussions and driving better progress.

Let's uncover the limitless possibilities that lie within the realm of life and embrace the transformative power it holds for the world. Let's energize together!

Filda Citra Yusgiantoro, Ph.D.

3 ways for education to become the solution for climate change (originally written in Bahasa Indonesia)

Vivi Fitriyanti (Assistant Researcher, Purnomo Yusgiantoro Center). Nadira Asrifa Nasution (Research Assistant, Purnomo Yusgiantoro Center)

The big shift in earth's temperature could be a risk to a drastic climate change by 2050. The effect would be severe, and the younger generation will be most at risk.

Speeding up Indonesia's EV ambition

Akhmad Hanan (Researcher, Purnomo Yusgiantoro Center)
Ahmad Munawir Siregar (Research Assistant, Purnomo Yusgiantoro Center)

Indonesia introduced a tax exemption in April as part of its incentive scheme for EVs, available to 250,000 two-wheelers and 35,900 four-wheelers until December 2023. The goal is to speed up an economic transformation and investment in the upstream and downstream segments of the EVs industry. The further aim is to reduce carbon gas emissions and dependence on fossil fuels.

Consumer's perception on electric vehicles contributes to the lack of adoption of electric motorcycles, outside of pricing. (originally written in Bahasa Indonesia)

Vivi Fitriyanti (Assistant Researcher, Purnomo Yusgiantoro Center). Nadira Asrifa Nasution (Research Assistant, Purnomo Yusgiantoro Center)

The transportation sector contributes as the second largest energy emissions in Indonesia (24.64% of total greenhouse gas emissions), following the energy producing industry (43.83%). One of them is motorcycles, with the number dominating land transportation based on fuel oil.

THIS PAPER ANALYSES TO ANSWER A QUESTION ON how far women in ASEAN have participated in the energy transition (leadership roles to end-users) compared to women in G7 economies?

The Importance of Women Participation in Ensuring Justice in Energy Transition in ASEAN and G7

Vivi Fitriyanti (Assistant Researcher, Purnomo Yusgiantoro Center). Vivid Amalia Khusna (Research Assistant, Purnomo Yusgiantoro Center)

Numerous countries, including those in ASEAN and G7, have raised their climate ambitions, aiming for net-zero emissions by 2060. Gender equality is vital for a fair energy transition (JET), and the United Nations Sustainable Development Goals (SDGs) 5 and 7 in promoting gender equality and sustainable energy access. Despite the importance of women's involvement in JET, they remain underrepresented in the energy industry. This study aims to promote women's participation in JET and address justice and inclusivity in the energy transition within the ASEAN and G7 countries.

INDONESIA'S ASEAN CHAIRMANSHIP 2023 PLAYS A PIVOTAL ROLE ON ASEAN POWER GRID REPERCUSSIONS.

has been published in Modern Diplomacy on 18 March 2023 with the title "Indonesia's ASEAN Chairmanship 2023 Plays a Pivotal Role on ASEAN Power Grid Repercussions"

BACKGROUND

This year, Indonesia has the opportunity to be the chair of a multilateral meeting, the 2023 ASEAN Chairmanship, with the theme "ASEAN Matters: Epicentrum of Growth"

Indonesia promotes three priorities in the economic sector

RECOVERY AND REBUILDING

DIGITAL ECONOMY

SUSTAINABILITY

Translated into 16 Priority Economic Deliverables (PED) for 2023

Energy has become one of the priority pillars on sustainability; focusing on building sustainable energy security through interconnectivity.

This is a gate opener for a more substantial commitment to the long-awaited ASEAN energy project, ASEAN Power Grid.

Indonesia's ASEAN Chairmanship 2023 Plays a Pivotal Role On ASEAN Power Grid Repercussions

This year, Indonesia has the opportunity to be the chair of a multilateral meeting, the 2023 ASEAN Chairmanship. Energy has become one of the priority pillars on sustainability; focusing on building sustainable energy security through interconnectivity. The ASEAN Power Grid project is the flagship program mandated in 1997 by the Heads of State/Governments of ASEAN under the ASEAN Vision 2020. The purposes and benefits of the APG project are very beneficial for the ASEAN member states, but until 20+ years after the project was first mandated, it has shown no significant progress. Aside from that, there are some challenges to make this project successful. So, how does Indonesia's ASEAN Chairmanship 2023 play a pivotal role in ASEAN Power Grid repercussions?

Events in Energy Sector

EU-Indo Pacific Forum Hosted by ERIA and Institut Francais des Relations Internationales (IFRI)

On 24 May 2023, Dr. Filda Citra Yusgiantoro, Chairperson of PYC, was invited to one of the sessions of EU-Indo Pacific Forum 2023: “Adapting to New Economic and Technological Realities”. This forum was co-organised by the French Institute of International Relations (IFRI) and the Economic Research Institute for ASEAN and East Asia (ERIA). The forum was held in a hybrid manner: online and closed-door in-person; and it was for the expert/working level. It was held at Institut Français des Relations Internationales (IFRI), 27 rue de la Procession, Paris. Dr. Filda Citra Yusgiantoro talked about “Energy Security and Energy Transition in ASEAN” in the energy security and transition session that was moderated by John Seaman, Research Fellow from Center for Asian Studies, IFRI. The objectives of this session were to understand the main challenges in balancing the need for ensuring greater energy security with a successful energy transition toward net neutrality, and to know more about perspectives that differ and converge across Asia and Europe. This session was also attended by Marc-Antoine Eyl-Mazzega (Director of Center for Energy & Climate, IFRI), Thomas Spencer, (Analyst of Sustainability, Technology and Outlook Directorate, International Energy Agency), and Ridwan D. Rusli (Professor for International Finance and Strategy, Faculty of Business, Economics, and Law; Schmalenbach School of Business and Economics, TH Köln).

Plenary Session Speaker in 12th ITB International Geothermal Workshop (IIGW) 2023

Massita Ayu Cindy, Research Coordinator of Purnomo Yusgiantoro Center (PYC), was invited to be the speaker for the plenary session at the 12th ITB International Geothermal Workshop (IIGW) 2023. IIGW was the annual event held by the Geothermal Engineering Faculty of ITB. The theme of this event was “Geothermal for Accelerating Post-Pandemic Economic Recovery”. The workshop was held on 6 June 2023 in East Center Campus Building “Benny Subianto II”.

In this workshop, Ayu presented “How to Improve the Competitiveness Level of Indonesia’s Geothermal from a Macroeconomic Standpoint”. Ayu explained the benefit of geothermal from a macroeconomic perspective, the geothermal competitiveness status, the main bottlenecks for geothermal development, and how to improve geothermal competitiveness and accelerate its development. After the presentation, there was a discussion session with the participants as well.
